Subject: FW: Link to BEAD guidance on benefits document

Hi Jessica: below you will find a link with some guidance on preparing benefits information for our review. Because chlormequat chloride is in house with “first food” new uses this action will need to go through the public process. A proposed decision memo will be written and posted for public comment and then a final decision memo will go out. The Agency will also need time to respond to all of the public comments. BEAD will need to conduct a benefits review based on the information that you provide. I noticed this information was not included in your submission but if I am just missing it please let me know. If it wasn’t included can you submit this information within the next month?

Heather
